State Approves City's $28,000 Mission Project

School street-Mission "stop and go" signals went into operation this week as the state's $88,000 improvements job to Daly City's Mission strip—from the top of the hill to Colma—neared completion.

City Manager Edward Frank simultaneously announced state approval of the city's plans for a $28,000 track removal and resurfacing project from Mission-San Jose avenue to the San Francisco city boundary. This work will include installation of a flasher traffic signal on a short concrete island at the Mission-Crocker avenue intersection. This will be the only center island in this project.

The estimated $28,000 all comes from city gas tax funds. City Engineer Bill Chapman has requested city of San Francisco to contribute $3500. Bids will be opened at City Hall on October 5. The contract will be awarded at the council meeting on October 10. Thirty days is the time limit for the improvements work.

Chapman said the state project on Mission street south will be finalized with the completion of the center islands. The city council has approved purchase of full-grown palm trees to be planted at the end of the center isles in a beautification effort.

Both shoppers and commuters have commented on the improved appearance and additional safety factors made possible by the $88,000 improvements to Mission. The city's $28,000 expenditure will complete the first phase of the council's total plan for bringing the entire Mission commercial area up to par—and perhaps even better than similar districts in other Peninsula cities.

Off-street parking still is a hurdle that has to be solved by the Daly City officials and merchants. Mayor Frank Pacelli, a Mission street businessman himself, has discussed preliminary proposals with representative merchants. Pacelli said more conferences with merchants are scheduled "so we can work together for some definite action on off-street parking needs, discuss costs, and set a timetable for these improvements."

MAYOR CALLS SPECIAL MEET

64 Sign Petition Urging 'Continuance' Of Edgewood Park

A petition signed by 64 East Vista avenue residents was filed with the city clerk Monday morning, asking Daly City councilmen "not" to abandon or sell 1.07 acres Edgewood Park but to make long-neglected repairs and return supervision to the tiny east-side facility.

Mayor Frank Pacelli and City Manager Edward Frank expressed surprise at the "unexpectedly heavy interest in the park." Pacelli declared Monday afternoon that the Edgewood situation would be "fully re-evaluated in view of this concern shown by residents via the petition."

Pacelli immediately asked Frank to set up a joint meeting with the city recreation commission and the protesting homeowners "so that a satisfactory solution can be worked out."

Commented the city manager, "Apparently in our innocence, we set a bonfire . . . but now that we know residents of the area want this park operation continued, then it behooves us to re-examine the status of Edgewood."

Pacelli asked Frank to notify all the petition signers by mail of the joint meeting which probably will be held next week — on Tuesday evening at War Memorial Community Center. A meeting this week is impossible because majority of the commission are on vacation.

The Edgewood uproar began shortly after the city council last week ordered immediate repairs to the first level of the three-tiered hillside site—primarily to protect the city from liability caused by soil erosion, fence damage and faulty tots' apparatus. At the same time the city council heard a recommendation by City Recreation Director Chuck Vincent and the Parks and Recreation Commission. Both acknowledged the rundown, hazardous condition of the park, cited the need for emergency clean-up and repairs, and asked that if the council decided to sell the park as an impractical operation that the money derived from this sale should be used to build a clubhouse in the same area on another, more stable city playground—possibly Lincoln playground or Frankfort park.

The city manager explained that the council last week "did no more than order the initial improvements to Edgewood—

Councilmen Get First Plans For Rapid Transit

Daly City councilmen this week got tentative plans for the Bay Area rapid transit system, starting a long process of suggestion and revision before voters have their say.

Local stop on the system would be near Junipero Serra boulevard at the Knowles avenue - Alemany boulevard junction.

Mayor Frank Pacelli said only that if and when the $909 million system comes into being, the Daly City station would probably be large — taking up as much as a city block.

City officials will have until December 1 to study the plans and recommend changes or additions. When a final plan is drawn up, county supervisors will have six months to study it and hold public hearings.

Key link in the system is the four-mile trans-Bay underwater transit tube connecting the subway complexes in downtown San Francisco and downtown Oakland.

From San Francisco, first-stage construction would extend north across the Golden Gate Bridge to a terminus at Santa Venetia in Marin County and south along the Peninsula to a terminus at Redwood City.

Polio Shots Again September 10 At Benjamin Franklin

More $1 polio injections will be made available to Daly City area adults and children by Broadmoor. Legionnaires on Saturday, September 10, at Benjamin Franklin School auditorium.

Chairman Ray Logan said first, second and third, plus booster shots will be offered.

Shots will be given from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the same alphabetical schedule used by the Legion for three previous polio shots days here this year.

Uniform Sales Tax?

MAYORS PROPOSE COUNTY-LED CIVIL DEFENSE, WAGE EQUALITY

Putting county civil defense coordination in charge of the board of supervisors, authorization of a survey on standardization of municipal wages, and the proposal that if county-wide sales tax is adopted the cities should give the county no more than five percent—were principal matters discussed Friday evening by Peninsula mayors meeting in San Mateo.

City Manager Edward Frank represented Daly City. He said the mayors appointed a committee to ask supervisors to establish a county-coordinated civil defense office . . . "which has been done in other areas with considerable success."

The mayors praised Daly City and South San Francisco officials for holding the line on annual employee wage increases. Most of the cities this fiscal year granted five percent salary increments, while DC and SSF approved three percent boosts.

Frank proposed that the mayors come up with a recommendation on standarization of cities' wages.

"I pointed out that if this could be done equitably," said Frank, "raises in the following years should be considered only on the basis of cost of living increases, with a re-evaluation of jobs every two or three years. This, of course, is in line with what we are attempting to do in Daly City."

The mayors decried the practice of one city using another city's wages and percentage of raises in order to gain a five, seven or 10 per cent increase for employees, rather than organizing a job evaluation to properly assess the wage of each position.

The long-brewing county-wide sales tax move brought a proposal by the mayor of Belmont that if this uniform levy is adopted, then ten percent of the revenue should be used by the county to amortize a bond issue for the construction and maintenance of streets throughout the county.

It was pointed out, Frank emphasized, that although some Peninsula cities already have sales tax, more money would be collected in these cities if there was a county-wide tax.

Majority of the mayors present agreed that a percentage of a county-wide tax should be

8100 ENROLLMENT ANTICIPATED BY DC ELEMENTARIES

Seventeen Jefferson Elementary District schools will greet an estimated 8100 students for the fall semester opening Monday, September 12.

Supt. Richard L. Foster said enrollment a year ago totalled 7139.

Fernado Rivera is the newest addition to the district. Located north of Westlake Park, it will make its debut with 455 students. Melvin Thayer, former principal of Olympia school on Northgate avenue, will be Rivera's principal.

Thayer's Olympia post has been assumed by Louine Bostwick. Mrs. Bostwick's Vista Grande - Thornton principalship will be handled by Carroll Martindale. James Thompson is new principal of Westlake school. He succeeded Miss Betty Kennedy who died earlier this year while attending a school convention in Sacramento.

The district's staff consists of 260 regular teachers and 44 administrative personnel.

Foster said construction of George Washington K-6 school between Lowell and Whittier streets should be completed by early 1961. Bids on the M. Pauline Brown K-6 school in St. Francis Heights will be opened on Wednesday, September 28, at 4 p.m. Initial bids on this project all exceeded the state's allowance.

Following is anticipated district enrollment by schools:

Abraham Lincoln, 590; Benjamin Franklin, 630; Colma K-6, 600; Colma Intermediate, 595; Crocker, 350; Daniel Webster, 495; General Pershing (replacement for the old school), 250; Garden Village, 590; Jefferson (plus two new classrooms), 410; Olympia, 440; Rivera, 455; Thomas Edison, 615; Thornton, 140; Vista Grande, 260; Vista Mar, 590; Westlake, 470, and Woodrow Wilson, 590.

Woman's Scalp Split Here In Purse Snatch

A 33-year-old secretary was smashed on the head by a purse snatcher last Thursday on her front sidewalk, two blocks from the Daly City business district.

Patrolman Al Nicolini said the young thief was unsuccessful and jumped in a car waiting for him.

The victim, Lurline Yvonne Croft of 268 Los Olivos street, was bleeding heavily. Rushed to Junipero Serra Hospital, six stitches were taken in her scalp. Nicolini said the woman was hysterical and only able to say that her attacker had been a young man.

He said no words were said in the 1 a.m. struggle and the weapon used has not been identified.

CO-CHAIRMAN of Daly City's 50th Birthday Week Celebration (May next year) is Arthur J. Bodien, 28 Rice street. The long-time resident and former councilman announced today that the golden anniversary planning committee will meet again on September 20 at City Hall, starting at 8 p.m.

SIXTY-FOUR East Vista avenue residents have petitioned the city council to abandon any idea for the sale of Edgewood playground, a dilapidated 1.07 acre site with entrances on East Vista and Garwood drive. The three-level facility is a visual "mess," a headquarters for juvenile shennanigans, and isn't supervised. Vandals periodically have ruined playground apparatus, pestered neighbors and "tunneled" under fences causing serious problems for adjacent property owners. The recreation commission went on record for repairs after a full study. Last week the council authorized basic improvements and heard the recreation director's recommendation that if the park is abandoned, money from its sale should be used to build a clubhouse at another playground in the eastern section of Daly City. The petition surprise prompted Mayor Pacelli to call a joint "meeting of the minds," at which the petitioners, recreation commission and the council will re-examine the Edgewood problem. This session probably will be held next week. Above pictures, taken by Recreation Department Director Chuck Vincent, show the park's deterioration woes. Repairs are under way — then what? Edgewood is located two blocks from Vista Grande school playground and four blocks from War Memorial Community Center on Mission —both supervised city recreation facilities.

Council's Schedule

Regular city council meetings this month fall on the evenings of September 12 and 26, City Manager Edward Frank today reminded residents. The council will meet in study session on September 8 and September 22. All meetings begin at 8 p.m. at 75 Wellington avenue, second floor.

Action Is Warranted

Municipal Court Bid Here Long 'Overdue'

Daly City—third largest municipality in San Mateo County —needs many new governmental facilities, and high on the priority list should be a municipal court to serve this area's 48,000 residents.

Police here have continually pointed out the money-saving and convenience values of such a facility. Residents periodically have implored the council to more than "explore" this possibility.

The only full-time court for the entire northern half of the county is located in South San Francisco's City Hall. Municipal Judge Charles Becker and his clerks are flooded Monday through Friday with a never-ceasing volume of criminal and civil actions from San Bruno, Pacifica, South San Francisco, Daly City, town of Colma, and the unincorporated areas.

Even the estimated $235,000 new double-courtroom courthouse in South San Francisco—which goes to bid very soon—won't remedy Daly City's court needs and extra expenses for processing cases.

A Daly City municipal court not only would bring more fines and forfeiture revenues to Daly City but would lessen the load on the new SSF court and give Daly City, the fringe areas, and possibly Pacifica a more logical headquarters for important legal matters.

San Mateo County presently has three overburdened municipal courts—in county seat Redwood City, with 45,000 residents; 70,000 population San Mateo, and 39,000 population South San Francisco.

It would seem obvious that of all the north end cities "removed" from a municipal court

MUNICIPAL MYSTERY:

Where In The Devil Is That Old Piano?

Fun is fun and a gag is a gag, but Daly City's volunteer firemen are burned up about a 1000-pound relic that at first was believed "borrowed" and then had to be reported as "stolen."

Members of Company 4, Peoria and Roosevelt street station, are puzzled by the disappearance of their old upright piano, a bit time-worn but still in tune for party-timing.

Volunteer Capt. Fred Maher said the piano was removed from the Company 4 firehouse between August 8 and August 22.

Reason this loss didn't alarm the volunteers too much at first was that they believed one of their members or other city employees merely borrowed it for a social activity and would return it in a couple of days.

So, the Company 4 men waited, waited some more, and they're still waiting. Last Thursday, Capt. Mather, who lives at 251 Irvington street, decided the piano had reached the point of no (voluntary) return. Police Officer Les Bastedo recorded the episode as a possible burglary.

Police do have a clue, however, to the deepening mystery. A Roosevelt avenue woman notified them—the day of the recent referendum election—that she had seen two men, "in their mid-twenties, dressed in denims and wearing baseball caps," take the piano from the volunteer firehouse. They hoisted it into a light grey pickup truck and drove off. The housewife said she didn't think much of the incident at the time because it was daylight and the "suspects" didn't appear to be in a hurry.

Police Officer-Dispatcher Jim Welsh, who leisures as a member of Fire Company 4, described the piano as being "a bit faded and stained."

"We had this piano 23 years

Catholic Schools Start Classes Tuesday, Sept. 6

For parochial school children, Labor Day is the last of the summer holidays. Classes begin again Tuesday at the three Catholic grade schools in the area.

Our Lady of Perpetual Help in east Daly City welcomes back as principal Sister Rita Marie who taught there more than 15 years ago. She returns from a number of years spent down south in Orange County.

Four hundred pupils have registered at Perpetual Help in the eight grades. There are six nuns teaching, with lay teachers for the fourth and fifth grades.

Besides the usual Three-R's, Sister Rita Marie is planning a special class in remedial speech for children with speech defects.

At Westlake's Our Lady of Mercy School, taught by the Dominican Sisters of The Holy Name, 550 children are expected. Double classes will be held for the first three grades and the school plans to have double classes in all grades within the next few years.

All classes are filled, Sister Clare, the principal, reports. Two new classrooms were built during the summer. In addition to the regular classes, folk dancing is scheduled and French will be taught all children in the school.

Sister Clare said that the seven nuns and four lay teachers will hold only half-day classes the first day. As is the case with the two other schools, the Our Lady of Mercy does not provide transportation.

At Holy Angels School in Colma, Mother St. Thomas Aquinas has 400 children registered for the eight grades.

Taught by the Sisters of The Holy Infant Jesus, students are provided with special tutoring in French and there are folk dancing classes once a week.

given by the cities to the county—if this money were earmarked for county-wide road improvements.

Frank explained to the officials that under Daly City's sales tax ordinance, no more than five percent would be given to the county if there were a county-wide sales tax. He then proposed that if county-wide sales tax adoption materializes, then a five percent limit from the cities to the county should be considered. The mayors agreed to discuss this with their councils immediately.

then we planned to study all the facts on the park's costs, volume of youngsters, and value as a facility for smaller youngsters."

"I do not feel the council is to blame for any misinterpretation some people might have about ultimate plans for the park," Frank went on. "I think both the staff and council were unaware that so many people were concerned about the park and want it continued and supervised."

The city manager ordered a complete report on Edgewood last May after a handful of homeowners in that vicinity protested the park's soil erosion and fence damage problems affecting their property. Police reports have indicated continual vandalism at Edgewood, primarily in the swings, the restrooms building and adjacent property.

Vincent discussed the predicament with the recreation commission who inspected the site as a group on June 28. Shortly thereafter, the commission went along with Vincent's recommendations for immediate improvements and possible abandonment of the facility because of the heavy maintenance, repair and supervisory costs. Vincent's report, complete with pictures showing the extreme physical woes at the site, pointed out that Edgewood, which opened in 1949, is only two blocks from the city-schools operated Vista Grande school playground and four blocks from larger, multi-activity War Memorial Community Center. There was the feeling that in view of Edgewood's deterioration since supervision was removed in 1958 (when Vista Grande playground entered the city program) that Edgewood had become more of a liability than an asset. Also, youngsters there still had Vista Grande and War Memorial at their disposal nearby for more varied use. Apparently the East Vista homeowners, however, feel abandonment of the park is "unthinkable."

The city manager said public works crews are correcting erosion and "tunnel" problems, mending the adjacent fences, and soon will tear down the much-clobbered and heavily damaged clubhouse on Edgewood's lower level.

Some observers feel a compromise can be worked out—by rehabilitating the lower level for small tots' usage but abandoning the upper two levels where activity has been limited and vandalism has been extreme — a virtual attractive nuisance. Most of the vandalism, it was confirmed, has been caused by older youngsters who are too big to use the lower level playground apparatus and cannot participate in other games because additional equipmen and appartus have either been stolen or sullied beyond repair.

Frank said the new fiscal budget doesn't specifically earmark any money for major Edgewood Park improvements or authorize a salary for a recreation supervisor at the site. But he did cite in his budget message that the city's total parks and recreation coverage should be "re-examined" in an attempt to reduce duplication of costs yet "balance out" the playground services throughout town. Frank said he would discuss the city's parks and recreation situation "in full" at next week's joint meeting.

Asked by the newspaper why Edgewood Park had been allowed to deterioriate over the years, Frank answered: "I don't know. There wasn't much mentioned about Edgewood's condition when I came here last March.

The "spare the park" petition was prefaced as follows:

"The following taxpayers and residents of Daly City residing in the vicinity and adjacent to Edgewood Terrace playground hereby present this petition wherein we request continuation of maintenance and supervision of Edgewood Terrace playground."

It was signed by: Mr. and Mrs. Urban Pope, 168 East Vista avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Craig, 164; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gobin, 158; George Scott, 154; Mrs. Joyce Braziel, 144; Stephen J. Mack Jr., 132; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Alvarez, 120; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hatchel, 114; Dorothy Whitaker, 182.

ago when Company 4 Station opened," remarked Welsh. "This is the first time to my knowledge it has been borrowed (or stolen)."

The volunteers at the Peoria-Roosevelt station meet there two nights a month for drill and other business. None of the 16 members of Company 4 has any idea what happened to the bulky musical instrument. Ditto for Capt. Frank Tardelli's Company 6 volunteers at the Werner street station and Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy's regulars in Westlake and at the Santa Barbara avenue firehouse.

Other city agencies also have responded in the negative to inquiries by Mather and Kennedy.

Everyone is getting into the hunt.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the old piano—worth about only $100 in market value but a whole lot more to Company 4, should call the cops immediately—if not sooner.

It could be that someone might have honestly overlooked returning the thing. Otherwise it's genuine grand theft.

It isn't easy to move a piano. It takes organization. Patrolman Welsh knows—he used to be a furniture mover.

DC Muni Court

that Daly City and nearby areas, on the basis of head count alone, warrant the establishment of a new court here.

A site isn't a problem. South San Francisco's new courthouse will occupy only five acres. Certainly Daly City's peripheral areas could offer any one of several adequate sites for a courthouse.

The support of Pacifica residents should be encouraged, too, because a new court in Daly City would reduce the length of Pacifica's court mileage to South San Francisco. With a population of about 21,000, Pacifica won't qualify for a municipal court facility for several years.

Construction is scheduled to begin momentarily on city of San Mateo's second municipal court building. This new structure will have room for three courtrooms, plus offices for all agencies connected with court business.

It would seem only proper that Daly City now should receive favorable response from the county's jurists and board of supervisors for the authorization of a municipal court here. South San Francisco's new courthouse still won't be big enough and staffed adequately to handle all north county civil and criminal actions.

Daly City's population by no means has reached the saturation point. At present, the third largest city in the county deserves a municipal court.

The south county is well taken care of as far as modern facilities are concerned. It's about time Daly City took a leading role in attempting to balance out this overall court coverage.

Voters can help by urging the individual councilmen and supervisors to follow up this proposal with serious action. If certain laws have to be changed, or boundaries changed, then these steps should be expedited. A "we can't do anything about it" attitude is simply a preview of non-accomplishment and perhaps—political expediency.

City's 7th Annual Flower Show Set For September 11

Final preparations are being made by the Daly City Garden Club for its seventh annual "Hawaiian Holiday" flower show, scheduled Sunday, September 11, from 2 to 9 p.m. at War Memorial Community Center. The exhibition is free to the public. Last year's show drew all-time high attendance.

Glass-house In Colma Stoned

Vandals smashed more than 200 windows at G. Schenone & Sons nursery, 355 Pierce street, Colma, last Friday night.

Rocks, pipe and boards were thrown at the Sullivan street side of the nursery. George Schenone estimated the total damage in glass, plants and repair at $1000.

The 16 x 18 inch panes cost $3 apiece.

"The glass fell in the maidenhair fern. Cut and sliced it. We have to pick all the shards out and we're chipping out the hard seal putty," Schenone said.

Patrolman J. K. Coleman reported that no one had seen the vandals at work.

2nd Article In Series On 'Mutual Fund'

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles explaining the "Mutual Fund," written by William R. Morgan, a Daly City resident.)

The investment management of a Mutual Fund may be its own trustees or directors and officers, an investment counsel firm, or an affiliated investment banking firm.

Frequently, the governing board of a Mutual Fund hires additional investment counsel to manage the Fund's investments, management fees usually being based on the total value of the assets (generally ½ of 1%). Management contracts can be cancelled on not more than sixty days notice.

Many Mutual Funds have their own research staff regardless whether or not outside investment counsel is employed. In addition to using recognized research methods, the Mutual Fund staff will maintain liason with industrial enterprises by using field representatives.

The custodian of a Mutual Fund is the independent institution employed to take care of its securities and cash. It holds all these assets in trust and performs duties unrelated to management. Fees for performance of custodianship are usually about 1/10 of 1% of assets.

Mutual Fund are "open-end" investment companies. In this situation, buyers purchase shares from the company, and the company is required to repurchase shares any of its shareholders wish to sell. The buyer pays a price based on net asset value, plus a sales charge. When a shareholder wishes to sell, the company must buy the shares at the net asset value at the time of sale. Usually, there is no sales charge on this transaction. The Mutual Fund shareholder, therefore, has a ready market at the going value for any share he wishes to sell. This is a most important factor in the popularity of Mutual Funds since 1940.

A Mutual Fund sells its shares usually through an exclusive distributor appointed by the trustees or board of directors. The distributor makes agreements for final distribution with retail security dealers in various territories.

To buy Mutual Fund shares, an individual places an order with an authorized securities dealer, who forwards it and the money to the Fund or its distributor. A certificate is then issued in the name of the buyer for the number of shares purchased and sent to him. To repeat—the buyer pays net asset value plus a sales charge. The shareholder may sell these shares any time he pleases through his security dealer, or directly to the Fund at the going net asset value. The Investment Company Act of 1940 requires payment within seven days after the shares are tendered for redemption. Exceptions are made to this rule when a company cannot evaluate its stocks fairly or dispose of them because of emergency conditions.

All kinds of investors buys shares in Mutual Funds; those with $100 or less up to wealthy investors with a great deal more to invest. They do so because of their common desire for better investment results through professional, full-time investment management.

House Breakers Holiday On Champagne, Beer

Somebody had a holiday while the Garibaldis were on vacation. And it wasn't only the Garibaldis.

Albert Garibaldi returned from a week's vacation last week to find someone had stolen five bottles of champagne, three fifths of bourbon and a case of beer.

Garibaldi, of 73 Bismark street, told Patrolman Philip La Bruzzo that he first noticed a small shed beneath the front steps had been broken into and the beer taken. Then, when he checked the liquor cabinet in the den, he found the spirits gone.

La Bruzzo and Garibaldi agreed that entrance to the house had been gained via a coat-hanger through the garage door mailbox.

An elephant-size chunk of metal that tames high voltages down to usable electricity is called a power transformer—and Frank has 9 of them on wheels! These mobile units are sent out to take over for the regular transformers requiring emergency repairs. This eliminates the need for scores of spare transformers at substations. Daly City Demos Plan Cavalcade For Kennedy; Headquarters Here

Daly City Democrats are making plans to help insure a royal welcome for John F. Kennedy, when the nominee for president arrives at the San Francisco airport at noon this Saturday.

Plans include a motor cavalcade which will form in the Westlake Shopping Center opposite the Westlake Bowl. Cards and streamers will be available if anyone wishes to decorate his car. The cavalcade will leave at 11 a.m. for the airport to allow sufficient time for parking.

Kennedy headquarters has arranged for seating accommodations, plus box lunches for those interested.

Those persons planning to join the cavalcade should arrive at the Westlake Shopping Center no later than 10:30 a.m., particularly if they are intending to decorate their cars.

The Daly City Democratic headquarters will have its official opening on Saturday, September 3, at 3 p.m., at 7375 Mission street, with distinguished guests on hand to welcome all Democrats to participate in the campaign.

Bonnie Jensen, the lovely Miss Daly City, will be an unofficial hostess during the afternoon, and will welcome candidates and guests to the opening.

Dr. John Kaster, candidate in the 9th Congressional District; William Gately, candidate for State Senator, San Mateo County, and Robert Hardgrove, candidate for Assembly, 25th District, will be guest at the headquarters, as well as representatives from Kennedy headquarters. Refreshments will be served throughout the afternoon.

The Democratic headquarters will be open to visitors at any time during and following the Saturday opening, and interested Democrats are urged to drop in and pick up literature and observe the course of the campaign.

Hit-And-Run Damage Costs Rigger $158

Harlan D. Campbell, 48-year-old Hunter's Point rigger, was fined $158 in municipal court last week for the hit-and-run damage to a cyclone fence at Crocker School the night of August 21.

Campbell, who at first denied ramming the fence with his car, was halted at Silver and Alemany in San Francisco a few minutes after police were notified of the crash by an Evergreen avenue housewife.

Daly City police radioed San Francisco officers the description of Campbell's vehicle and minutes later the rigger and his car companions were interrogated.

Sgt. David Hansen and Officer James Bergstrom of Daly City said Campbell apparently had "one too many" beers while visiting a Daly City friend's home on Evergreen avenue. Apparently Campbell decided to let his friend drive him home after the rigger had tried to drive, his car jumping the curb and clobbering the fence next to the school.

There was little damage to Campbell's '52 auto but the fence was torn and uprooted, according to Bergstrom's report.

Sports Car Mishap Kills Colma Student

James Allan Thomas, 868 Beechwood drive, Colma, died late Saturday of injuries he suffered the same morning when his sports car went out of control on Alemany boulevard near San Jose avenue.

Police said the roadster went up on the center island and thudded into an 18-foot concrete light standard. Time was about 4 a.m. and Thomas reportedly was coming home after visiting friends in San Francisco. Officers theorized that the victim may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Thomas was the son of Mrs. Irene E. Thomas, same Colma address, and J. Walter Thomas, former president of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association. A senior philosophy student at San Francisco State College, James was attending summer school and working part-time for Lockheed in Sunnyvale in the electronics division. Born in Great Falls, Montana, 28 years ago, he was a graduate of San Francisco's Abraham Lincoln High School, served six years in the Navy during the Korea war, and attended St. John's College in Maryland just after his service discharge.

His brother, Gary, 22, attends University of San Francisco, and his sister, Elaine Irene Thomas, 20, attends San Francisco State College.

Funeral services were scheduled this Wednesday morning at the Halloran Funeral Home, 1266 Ninth avenue, with Requiem Mass at Holy Angels Church in Colma followed by interment at Golden Gate National cemetery.

You Can't Vote Unless You Register Before September 15

Are you eligible to vote in the November general election?

If you haven't registered, remember the final deadline is Thursday, September 15.

Approximately 30 deputy registrars are busy in the Daly City area urging residents to sign for voting eligibility.

You can register by going to any one of four Daly City supermarkets before September 15 (registrars are there each week, Thursday through Saturday) — Mayfair Market at Broadmoor Shopping Center, Safeway off Junipero Serra and Washington, Westlake Food Center, and beginning this Thursday at Spotlite Market on Hillside boulevard near Mission.

Call the city clerk, PL 5-0850, for address of the local home registrars.

Four DC Rotarians Observe 'Birthdates' With Organization

Four members of Daly City's Rotary Club are celebrating their membership anniversaries this month.

City Manager Edward Frank is marking his 30th year as a Rotarian. Former Daly City Mayor Tony Gaggero, an insurance man, has notched his 27th year with the organization.

Dentist Tom Lewis is celebrating his 24th Rotary year, and Floyd "Bing" Crosby, insurance man, his 23rd.

City Celebration Group Close To Finalizing Dates

Exact dates of Daly City's 50th Anniversary Celebration will be set by the central committee at its September 20 meeting at City Hall.

Tuesday night last week the committee again reviewed plans for the week-long affair. There was some discussion on changing the 1961 event from May to September or October. Also mentioned was the possibility of limiting the celebration to four days instead of a full week.

Co-chairman Arthur Bodien said the September 20 meeting should finalize the schedule and committee chairmen will begin their organizational work.

Letters To The Editor

Writer States City Should Not Abandon Park

Dear Editor:

At the City Council meeting of August 22, 1960, item No. 30 on the agenda pertained to the abandonment of Edgewood Park. From the discussion on this subject it appeared that the residents of this area had sought to have this park abandoned because of its condition; vandalism, hazards, etc. It also appeared that the Recreation Commission had requested, on its own, to have the park abandoned. It would have gone through except that Mr. Ed Cavagnero, member of the Recreation Commission, was in the audience. Mr. Cavagnero addressed the Council and stated that some publicity should be had on this before the abandonment went through. He also commented that regardless of how the Recreation Commission felt, that if the Council wanted to abandon the park and sell the property, it would do so.

On Tuesday, August 23rd, the day after the meeting, I went to the park and inspected it. The storehouse is beat up, the equipment is in bad shape; however, there were many children playing there. I visited several homes in the area and asked the homeowners if they, or anyone that they knew in the area, had requested the park to be closed. They all said: "NO!, that their children used the park, especially the little ones." They also said that they wished the equipment and park was kept in better condition so that the children could get more use out of it. This was unanimous and very emphatic.

The people in this area were no consulted, nor did they ask to have the park abandoned. If the park is in such bad shape, what has our Council, Recreation Department and Police Department done to remedy this? Why should the children of Daly City be deprived of a playground due to the failure of these departments in their responsibility to their jobs? Instead of abandoning, why don't they fix it up, put equipment in that can't be broken so easily, patrol the area occasionally and try to prevent vandalism? Or is there more to this than meets the eye?

As was pointed out at the City Council meeting by Mr. Cavagnero, if the proposed Callan apartment project adjoining this park is built, there will be more need than ever for this recreation area. With all the present undeveloped R-3 zoning, don't abandon our parks for more apartment sites!

Sincerely,
Timothy J. Christen

Delay Opening Oceana High; Bids Not Let

All bids for the new Oceana High School in Pacifica, to cost $2.5 million when completed, will probably be rejected, the school board indicated at its last meeting.

So, Supt. Edward Morgan said Oceana definitely will not open in the fall of 1961.

However, action on the bids was postponed until September 12.

The state had allocated $1,283,866 for Oceana. The lowest bid was $100,0000 above this. Dickman Construction Co., San Jose, made a base bid of $1,385,000. Utility, street and sidewalk work brought their bid to $1,846,200.

Ralph Larson and Son, South San Francisco, bid $1,466,312 totaling out to $1,941,412. Williams and Burrows, San Jose, bid $1,438,187 and $1,909,207.

The school is planned to hold 950 pupils, like the Terra Nova High School which will open next August. Both are in Pacifica, which has an estimated 1400 children of high school age. Westmoor High School is now handling them in afternoon classes.

The school board also delayed giving architect Mario Ciampi the contract for extensive remodeling of Jefferson High School. Here the trouble is that school will have to be in session while under construction. The board wants the four-year estimated time cut.

Elementary Trustees Meet Tuesday Night

Jefferson Elementary District school trustees will hold their first September meeting next Tuesday night, 8 o'clock, at 48 Park Plaza drive in Westlake.

Second monthly board meeting is scheduled Monday evening, September 19, according to Superintendent Richard L. Foster.

KEEPING track of more that 70,000 drawings is no mean task. The San Francisco District Army Engineers recently showed its appreciation of the topnotch job Shelby W. Hartman (right) of 445 Winchester street, Daly City, did in handling such a collection by presenting him a superior performance citation and check for $150. Col. John S. Harnett, former District Army Engineer here, shakes Hartman's hand after a brief ceremony. In making the award Harnett pointed out that Hartman, an engineering aid, handled the management of the drawings alone for a short period of time because of an unfilled vacancy with his usual degree of accuracy.

No Deadline On War Orphans For College Start

Q—Is there a deadline for starting school under the War Orphans Education program?

A—There is no deadline. You may begin school at any time, so long as you are between 18 and 23 years of age, and otherwise eligible. Under certain circumstances it's possible to begin before 18 and continue after 23.

Q—Is there any special procedure for notifying my VA district office of my change of address? I have a GI insurance policy.

A—The VA encloses a special Change of Address card with the premium notices mailed to GI policy holders. Simply fill out this card, sign and return to VA, which will change your records accordingly.

Q—I am a World War I veteran with one dependent and may be eligible for pension under the new pension program. Just about all the money I get is from a private annuity plan. Is this considered income for VA pension purposes?

A—Payments from an annuity plan such as yours are not considered income until after you have received an amount equal to what you yourself contributed to the plan. Annuity payments are then classed as income and should be reported.

Jeff High District Trustee Meetings On 12th And 26th

Regular meetings of the Jefferson High School District board of trustees this month will be on September 12 and 26, at the district office, 375 South Mayfair avenue, Westlake Shopping Center. These Monday 7:30 p.m. meetings are open to the public.

New Regulation Is Major Step To Control Bay Air Pollution

The enactment of Regulation 2 by the Bay Area APCD Board of Directors is a major step in the control of air pollution emissions and will reduce the more undesirable effects in the six counties (Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara) that comprise the District.

The regulation is aimed at controlling industrial and incineration smog. Specifically, Regulation 2 is designed to eliminate most gritty or flaky emissions, drastically reduce coiling particles, improve visibility, eliminate disagreeable odors and vegetation damage. Regulation 1, which became effective in October, 1957, controls large scale open burning.

Regulation 2 to some degree will affect all operations in the Bay Area, except those specifically exempted. All operations which put forth air contaminants from incineration, salvage, heat transfer, general combustion, and other general operations must register with the District. Those chiefly affected are industrial operations, office buildings, retail or wholesale establishments, hotels, apartment houses, restaurants, laundries, launderettes and factories. Schools, hospitals and other public and semi-public buildings will be in the same class. A note of caution has been issued by Benjamin Linsky, Air Pollution Control Officer, that should a doubt exist as to the necessity for registering an operation, a letter or call to the Bay Area APCD office will clear the matter immediately.

When to Register: Initial registration began on July 1, and it is mandatory under the law that it be completed by September 1, 1960. District officials anticipate that between 40,000 and 75,000 Bay Area operations will register.

Where to Register: Initial registration forms are available at the Bay Area APCD offices, 1480 Mission street, San Francisco, and at any of the following in the six Bay Area counties which comprise the District: All city halls, county offices, city and county building inspectors' offices, city and county planning commission offices, all principal fire stations, and all chambers of commerce.

Exemptions: Under the provisions of Regulation 2, certain operations are exempted from control and registration at this time. These include automobiles and aircraft, incinerators located at one and two family dwelling units, outdoor recreational and ceremonial fires, heaters used by fruit ranchers, and crop dusting.

'Irishman' Joins Newspaper Staff

Michael (Mike) Lucey, a "newly settled" San Francisco resident, has joined the news staff of Marchbanks Publications, Editor Harold P. Bradshaw announced today.

His experience includes general news assignments for the Albuquerque (New Mexico) Tribune and the Rocky Mountain News of Denver.

Lucey attended Georgetown University in Washington D. C. prior to entering the Army. He saw action in the Korea conflict as a signal corpsman attached to a regimental combat team.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, Lucey returned there after military duty and attended the National University of Ireland and later the London School of Economics on the GI Bill.

He is married, and his wife, currently visiting relatives in Oklahoma, is expected to join him soon.

Sheltered Workshop & Nursery School For Mentally Retarded

Dr. Edward Schulze, president of Children's Health Home for Mentally Retarded Children and Adults, announced that the Sheltered Workshop Program will open on September 6.

The Sheltered Workshop provides rehabilitation and employment services for mentally retarded adults aged 18 and over. The objectives of the sheltered workshop are to prepare mentally retarded adults for gainful employment in the community and to provide protective employment for those who are unable to compete in industry. Thus not only can the mentally retarded be helped but the mentally retarded can be helpful and productive in our society.

Dr. Schulze also stated that the Nursery School for mentally retarded children between ages 4 through 8 years will open two daily sessions effective September 12. The nursery school program emphasizes social development, self help, speech development and provides new learning situations for the mentally handicapped child. In addition, individual and group speech therapy will be provided on a regular basis.

Further information regarding enrollment write to the Children's Health Home, 515 East Poplar avenue, San Mateo, or call DIamond 3-3943.

AROUND TOWN

By ROY HURLBERT

SAN MATEO COUNTY'S mayors broke bread, sipped soup, and discussed civil defense, wage standardization, and county-wide sales tax last Friday night at the Villa.

Daly City and South San Francisco were "complimented" for granting only 3 percent pay increases to muni personnel this fiscal year. Most of the other cities awarded five percent hikes.

Salaries are the major expenditure in all city budgets. In the bigger burgs, salary totals are staggering.

DALY CITYS once negligible reputation for community spirit—despite the expected moments of political strife—is being erased.

This community identification should be capped in grand style next year in the Gateway city's 50th Birthday Celebration.

Politics are another matter. Daly City through the years has been termed a "hotbed" of municipal debate and controversy. This at least means that people pay attention to City Hall actions. And that's a healthy situation.

FEW MONTHS BACK when Ed Frank tackled the task as new Daly City manager, he made one seemingly general but significant statement regarding his role as chief administrator.

"We," he said collectively, "are paid to serve the people. If they are unhappy, then it behooves us to do something about it."

Frank's philosophy was on target again this week on the wings of a citizen petition drive to "improve" and "continue" the Edgewood Park operation.

"It's part of our job to keep our residents satisfied," he intoned Monday afternoon. "When we are fully aware that a majority have strong feelings on a neighborhood issue like Edgewood, then we have an obligation to meet with these people to work for a mutually satisfactory—and financially feasible—solution."

TERMS OF TWO Daly City planning commissioners—Tony Masini and Roy Foster (both east siders)—have expired and reappointments or replacements should be on an immediate council agenda.

The city personnel board also is lacking a fifth member. This vacancy has been unfilled for an awkwardly long time.

SOMETIMES the profession catches up to you. Consider Joe Schultz, the landscape gardener who serves on Daly City's personnel board.

Last week Schultz' wife and four kids had an enjoyable vacation at Geyserville. But not Papa Joe. He had to work through Saturday, so he stayed home and batched it.

Mrs. Schultz says the only thing Joe knows how to cook is "the frying pan."

'CALM AND COLLECTED' aptly describes DC night police dispatcher David Vargo, a newcomer to the DC ranks. While in the service at Edward Air Force Base, Vargo was part of the emergency rescue operation in the Yuba City area—a flood disaster that received nationwide attention. David was a crewman with a helicopter unit. He and his fly-mates served more than a few families by running supplies and bedding to the ousted residents. It was quite a long haul at that—Edwards is located deep down in South Cal. Yuba City is up where the tall timber grows.

YOU CAN CALL IT a "well spent" vacation if you want, but Assistant City Manager P. Jackson Brown is weary from his two-weeks "breather."

The day his vacation started, Mrs. (Lea) Brown came home from stork headquarters with new-arrival Kathryn Jamie, their second daughter.

P. Jackson went back to work last week "for a rest."

Just ribbing, naturally. Brown performs his duties conscientiously, according to his elders.

THE TWO "SPAS" couldn't have handled both events.

We mean Reno and Los Vegas. Real Estate mogul Art Colvin literally took over the southern Nevada metropolis for his recent wedding. Art probably stayed away from Reno 'cause Marilyn Monroe, Montgomery Clift and Clark Gable were hogging the headlines (along with the forest fires) in the northern part of the state.

Of course, considering the company at Reno, maybe Art would have fit right in with the crowd. He knows celebrities aplenty.

OCTOGENARIAN Larry Shaw, No. 9 Shakespeare street, the proudest Eagle of them all (Daly City-Colma nest), reports that last Sunday's Aerie picnic near Woodside "brought about 2000 people . . . and it was the best we've ever had."

Larry ought to know. He's been with the local unit since before the Hoover administration. Remember those days—when Sharp Park was a "long trip" from Daly City?

READER writes that last week in reviewing Daly City's administration in 1939 (when City Hall was dedicated), this corner forgot to mention Mrs. Jean O'Rourke, 263 Evergreen avenue, who served as Daly City librarian from 1922-1947. She's been a resident here since 1908.

JEFF High District Superintendent's secretary Dorothy Duncan is new membership chairman of the San Mateo County Association For Education Office Employees.

With a label like that the group must be here to stay.

Miss Duncan got the ball rolling Sunday night at her Twin Peaks home by inviting all the county superintendents' secretaries for a bull session. Ten of the 31 secretaries from the county's 27 school districts knifed through the fog and made it to Dorothy's domicile.

St. Michael's Greets New Nuns

New faces will predominate the first meeting of the St. Michael's School Mothers' Club Monday, September 12, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

To be introduced are new Reverend Mother Aidan, Sisters Mary Pius and Mary Concepta, and two lay teachers, Miss Artigues, and Mrs. Koenemann. They have joined Sisters Carrol Regina, Finbarr Marie, Therese Marie, and Clementia Maria on the teaching staff.

A few weeks before school opened, the whole of St. Michael's Parish said goodbye to Reverend Mother Mary Catherine and Sister Mary Fidelis, who were transferred to other schools in the state.

Mrs. Kenneth Fahy, president of the club, announced that Father Laurent Largente, Assistant Pastor of St. Michael's will address the first meeting.

Eighth grade mothers will be hostesses for the evening, and refreshments will be served during the "let's get acquainted" session.

Westlake Catholic Men Meet Sept. 6

Westlake Catholic Men will hold their first meeting of the fall season next Tuesday evening, September 6, at 8 o'clock in the Our Lady of Mercy parish hall, President Milt Locke announced today.

Westlaker Named SF State PIO

William R. Pengra, 147 Glenwood avenue, has been named public information officer at San Francisco State College, according to Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, president.

A resident of the Bay Area since 1945, Pengra has worked as reported and editor for daily newspapers and a magazine. He served as Public Information Director for 11 years at San Francisco Naval Shipyard, and has operated his own public relations and advertising agency.

Graduated from the University of Oregon in 1941, Pengra served in the Marine Corps before coming here.

THESE Westlake Troop 248 Scouts — Steven Zweig, Robert Ritchie, Richard Davis and Edward Adams — participated in the national jubilee in Colorado this summer. Phillip Cully also represented the Westlake unit. These boys will tell all about their camp experiences at the September 13 Troop meeting.

Miss Linda Masterson Wed After Elopement

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Masterson have announced the marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Gordon Scott Johnson of Glenellen.

The couple, now making their home in San Francisco, were married July 29 after eloping to Reno. Maid of honor and best man were Nancy Valentine of Pacifica and Tod Smith of Sonoma. Mr. and Mrs. Carsten Thomsen of San Francisco, sister and brother-in-law of the groom, were chaperones on the trip.

Linda, 19, is a clerk with United Parcel Service and Gordon, 21, is a sheet metal worker. The bride was a 1959 graduate of Westmoor High School. Her parents live at 1828 Louvaine drive.

CITY OF HOPE CHARTER SETS TAHOE JAUNT

T.S.S.L. Chapter of the City of Hope has completed plans for a gala weekend bus trip, Saturday and Sunday, September 10 and 11, to Crystal Bay at Lake Tahoe. The $12 per person cost includes transportation, motel accomodations, dinner, cocktails and entertainment. For information and reservations, call Mrs. Max Robinson; PL 6-8377. Transportation will leave Westlake Bowl on September 10 at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Girl Saved From Ocean Cliffs By Fishing Freshman

A City College freshman rescued a girl from the cliffs high above ocean beach off Old Coast Highway last weekend.

The girl, who never gave her name, was trapped without shoes in the rocks and shale a mile south of the junction of Alemany and Skyline boulevards.

Daly City patrolman Ralph Warren said Fred Virgilio, 17, 128 Rome street, San Francisco, was out fishing when he climbed the cliff to help her.

"I was afraid she would be killed if she slipped and started rolling," Virgilio said. He climbed as far as he could then told the girl, about 17:

"Come down to me — if you skid I'll stop you."

The two made their way safely down and the girl, happy, ran off.

Fred, who starts his freshman year this month, said he caught a bass that day.

75 Works Of Westlake Artists Feature Four-Day 'Invitational'

There's no doubt about it—Westlakers take to art as a hobby! This is apparent from the response to the Westlake Invitational section of the Art Fair, which will be held in Westlake Shopping Center this week (today through Saturday).

More than 75 canvases of Westlake painters have been accepted for showing during the four-day run of the event. Oils, water colors, ceramics, and statuary have all been entered.

Youngest exhibitor is Judy Weingarten, 74 Westdale, who at the age of 5½ years, already has won prizes in showings of her work.

Great flexibility in style is exhibited in the four paintings (two oils and two water colors) of Grace Van Wormer, 41 Clifton drive, whose work excites attention wherever it is seen.

Loren Sparks, 85 Fairway drive, will exhibit six paintings. He is one of the sponsors of a Saturday Life Painting Group which has been meeting for several years in North Beach. He studied two years with New York socialite portraitist, Salvador De Regil, now in Paris, and Vaclav Vytlacil, noted abstractionist and an instructor at the Art Students League, New York.

Mrs. Melvin Pincus, 1391 Southgate avenue, will show a group of four oils, encompassing both modern and traditional styles work.

It will be a "first" showing for William Carcillo, 240 Lake Merced boulevard, who will show a still life and a portrait.

Christian LeBesque, 94 Elmwood drive, has promised the show a sculptured St. Francis. LeBasque studied with Bufano.

Thelma Doelger, whose works have been seen many times in shows throughout the Bay Area, will enter two new pictures in the Westlake Invitational.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bill Staudacher, 21 Crestwood drive, plan on entering their individual paintings.

Many other Westlake artists have expressed their intention of exhibit at the show, and their work may be seen from August 31 through September 3. The Westlake Invitational is part of the General Art Fair being presented by Art Unlimited, 14 Tillman place, San Francisco.

Tired Drivers Use One Eye, Other One Asleep

Drivers who glue their eyes to the road are apt to commit more driving errors than those who shift their eyes occasionally, reports the California State Automobile Assn.

Studies conducted by the AAA show that staring straight ahead down the highway for long periods puts a heavy strain on the eye muscles. This strain makes the driver drowsy and reduces his ability to judge distances.

Most persons have better vision in one eye than in the other. When tired, the dominant eye tends to take over the main burden of seeing and the result is something like one-eye vision, a dangerous condition for driving.

The CSAA offers several suggestions for combating eye fatigue:

1. Glance to either side of the highway from time to time when there is no traffic immediately ahead.

2. When stopped at traffic signals, close your eyes for a moment. Closing the eyes even for a few seconds helps to rest them.

3. At the first sign of a headache or symptoms of eyestrain, stop the car off the roadway, close your eyes and press your fingers lightly over the eyelids. This helps relieve fatigue caused by eye muscle strain.

4. When only one person is available to do the driving on long trips, stop every two or three hours for a break.

Family Night Steaks For First Dinner Under D.C.-Colma Lion Prexy Glass

The Daly City - Colma Lions, in a brand new gesture, treated their wives and children last week to a family night at the Steak Pit restaurant.

For the sake of the children almost no business was transacted. The affair was simple but the fare was not.

Steaks and baked potatoes with a full course of trimmings was the menu. ("The kids got meatloaf and they were having such a good time they didn't notice the difference," Joe Rohl, P.G.&E. manager, said.)

The dinner was the first held under the new presidency of George Glass, owner of Spotlite Market. His seven children were ther and he named them all without a mistake.

Several members — Edward Byrne of Byrne Radio, Stan Hannah and Walter Lehigh — turned up with their grandchildren. Several commented afterward on the manly impression Mark Fontana, 8, created with his brief prayer before dinner.

It had been the turn of his father, Elio Fontana, owner of Fontana Monuments, to make the invocation. But since it was a family night, Mark subbed.

New telephone company manager Frank Riddle joined the club in the main business of the evening. And during the dinner Roy Arneson MC'd with a number of more or less appreciated jokes.

The children, newly introduced to the ways of the Lions Club, got restless once the dessert disappeared and the evening ended early with the comment that something good had been started.

Parents Of 13,500 Area School Kids Urged To Join PTA; Clubs Schedule Series Of September Meetings Here

Parent-teacher groups in the Daly City area are organizing a full schedule of coffees, carnivals, cards and teas to get fathers and mothers working in the PTA this school year.

Westmoor High PTA probably has the biggest job. It must contact parents of its 1350 Westmoor students plus the 950 Pacifica students who attend afternoon school at Westmoor.

Palmira Nolli, head of the joint PTA, said literature will be sent to 2300 parents in a drive to augment the membership. The first regular meeting will be September 29—Get Acquainted Night. Glen South and Harold Tonini, principals of Westmoor and not yet built Oceana will be presented with their faculties to the parents.

Jefferson High School PTA will hold its first executive board meeting September 20 at the school, association head Mrs. Joe Kusber said. A freshman tea is planned for September 29 at the school cafeteria. Mrs. Kusber said individual letters will be maile 1500 parents, urging membership in the club.

Monthly programs for the year include work on scholarships, student socials, and a blood bank. To ease matters, Mrs. Kusber said a nursery will be held during meetings.

The Mothers Club of Our Lady of Perpetual Help school is serving coffee and donuts to mothers of newly enrolled pupils in the school hall after classes start Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon whist games are scheduled and Thursday at 8 p.m. mothers of all students will meet to plan club work for the year. Mrs. William Gonzales is club president.

The Mothers' Club and other organizations are already working on the three-day Bazaar to be held November 4, 5, and 6.

The coordinating committee of all PTAs in the district — presidents and principals — will hold its first meeting September 19, 1 p.m., at Garden Village school. Mrs. Jeane Bertken, chairman of the committee, said the agenda will deal with the San Francisco Players Guild musical, Cinderella, planned for February fund raising. The committee is particularly interested in needy children's dentist bills, glasses, clothes and shoes.

Daniel Webster school, opening for the first time this fall, has a coffee and donuts meeting planned for kindergarten mothers during September 8 registration. President Mrs. Mary Wilson said the executive board will meet at her home, 206 Alta Loma avenue, September 12.

The first regular meeting of Daniel Webster PTA will be at the school September 21.

Woodrow Wilson School PTA, under president Mrs. Gladys Moss, is having a get-acquainted tea from 2 to 5 p.m. September 18 at the school. The club's first meeting will be September 20, with all members distributing the work-load for the school carnival October 15.

Vista Mar School PTA is providing coffee and donuts September 8 for parents registering children. Mrs. Carol Meyer said the executive board will meet September 29 and a meeting of all members will be held October 11.

At Thomas Edison school, Mrs. E. Moreland Thompson, PTA head, said the group's executive board will meet September 13, and all parents on October 13.

The executive board of Garden Village PTA will meet September 27, 8 p.m. at the home of president Mrs. Jeane Bertken, 729 Stewart avenue, Colma. Mrs. Bertken said they will be planning for the Halloween Carnival in late October.

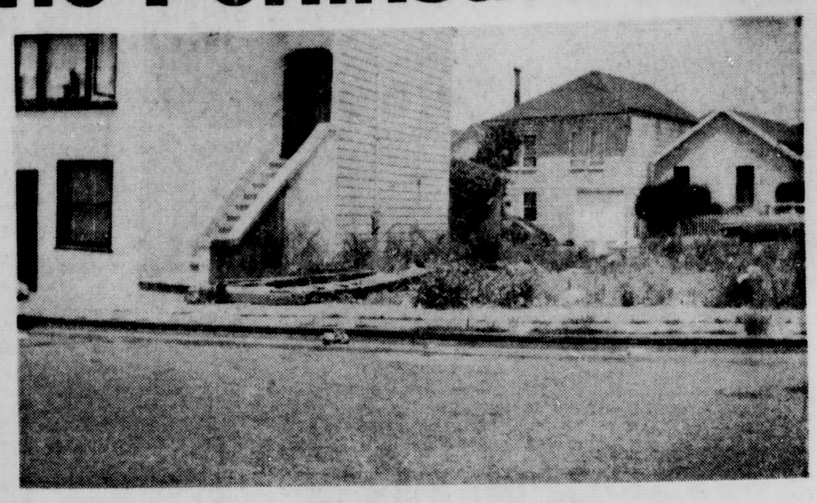
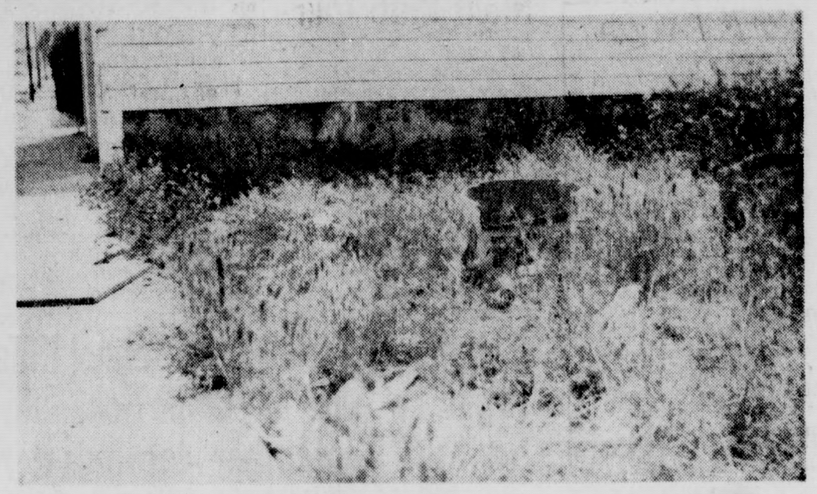
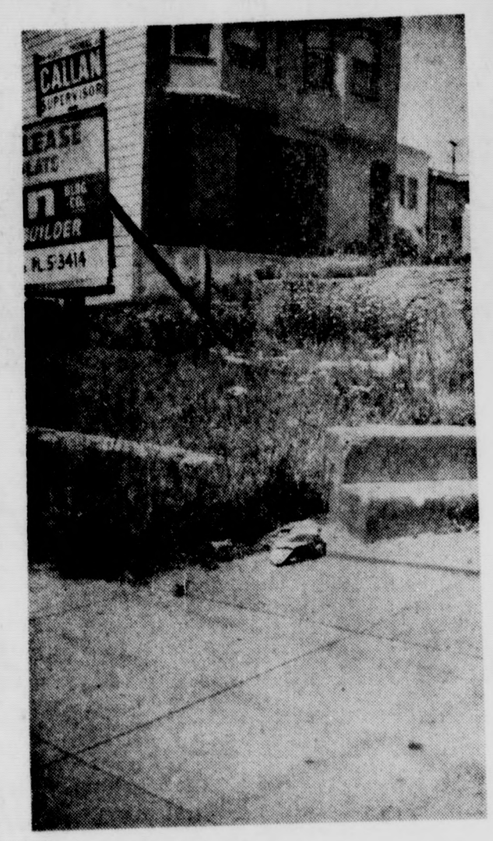
'Gateway' To The Peninsula?







VISITORS AS well as residents of Daly City can't help but be impressed—the wrong way—by the many "eyesores" in many areas of town. Those above are just a sample. Don't they look dandy? What ever happened to Daly City's slogan—the "Gateway to the Peninsula"?

While responsibility rests with city officials to correct unsightly, unsafe and unhealthy conditions, the clean-up and removal of the unattractive nuisances is the legal obligation of the individual property owners. Vacant lot clustered with combustible weeds and throwaways, major auto repair work at curbsides, and the trashy status of streetcorners are menaces to public safety and welfare. These certainly are a blight on Daly City's reputation for wholesome community living.

These pictures, supplied by a local resident, were taken in the older section of town—where nine out of 10 homeowners have pride in their neighborhoods. Just because some areas of a city are old doesn't mean these areas should be the center of filth, carelessness and indifference to the city's otherwise high standard of living. As is always the case, a few "spoilers" can make things worse for the vast majority of good citizens.

Daly City firemen and policemen, plus public works crews, invariably encounter problems like those above. Amending these situations is time-consuming and tempers flare, usually because there still are individuals who resent "interference" in their private affairs and involving their property. True, individual rights must be respected, but shouldn't all residents of a city realize an unwritten, moral obligation to their neighbors and the community as a whole? A man's house is his kingdom, to be sure, but his community also is his home and the kingdom of many. Any city can be a better place to live if its few non-conformists will do some thinking about how others comply in the public interest.

Municipal personnel need more notification and cooperation. Unnecessary conditions mean more work for these people and deprive them of valuable time needed for regular projects. Who suffers in the long run? The taxpayers at large.

There are laws to penalize litterbugs. But it's difficul to catch them in the act. Also, there are city ordinances against fire-hazardous empty lots and vacant property. And there are laws prohibiting major auto and truck overhaul work on city streets.

You can serve your neighborhood and your city if you keep these facts in mind. Urge your fellow residents to be concerned about the appearance and welfare of the "Gateway to the Peninsula." Otherwise, the slogan become a laughing matter and a topic of ridicule.

Marooned In Own Back Yard: Expectant Mother Stranded Here

Last Friday was sunny and warm. Shortly after noon Mrs. Paul Douglas decided to water the roses in the back of her house at 211 Avalon drive.

She took along a box to sit on. It is the easiest way to pull weeds when you expect your first baby in four weeks. The back yard is a nice one with a six-foot redwood fence around it. Entrance is through a gate, because the house has a front door and a side door, but no back one.

Spraying away, Mrs. Douglas was enjoying the air when meter reader James Gilleran stepped in the gate, pad in hand. While he noted down the electric meter reading, Mrs. Douglas chatted with him. Then they bid each other "Good Afternoon!"

Mr. Gilleran pulled the gate to. Complaints from home owners had long made it second nature for him to slide the bolts on gates. He did it this time, too.

About 1:30 Mrs. Douglas rolled away the hose, picked up clippers and box and—couldn't get out.

"I got panicky. This is impossible. I got up on the box and tried to reach over. Well, you know. . . . The windows were locked. Even if I broke one, imagine me climbing through a window now! I was scared."

Mrs. Douglas unwound the hose again, but a lawn will take only so much water.

"The people on either side are usually home — but not that day! I hollered, but no answer."

"Finally, a man, two houses down, came around back. He was sanding his roof or something and I called to borrow his ladder. He didn't understand me. But he came over and let me out.

"I can laugh now, but I wouldn't want to go through it again for any amount of laughter. My husband was upset too."

Supper was a little late for her husband, an IBM operator in San Francisco.

Pacific Festival Salmon Tourney Set For Bay Waters September 18

Fishermen, whether they are beginners or old hands, will have the chance to test their skill Sunday, September 18, when the Pacific Festival Salmon Tournament, co-sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Tyee Club gets underway, according to Bill Walstrom, tournament chairman.

Rules, established by the California Fish and Game Department, are simple and appear on application blanks. A nominal registration fee of $2.50 may be filed as late as the morning of the tournament.

Boat party reservations can be made for $10 through the Junior Chamber. September 9 is the deadline for boat space. Participants are not restricted to party boats, however, and private boats are eligible.

Skiffs are not recommended for those fishing outside the Golden Gate and small children should not be taken along.

The Tyee Club, along with the Golden Gate Fisherman's Association, will make available over 20 of the best party fishing boats operating out of San Francisco for the event.

Generous prizes of U. S. Government Savings Bonds and choice merchandise will be awarded, with three top awards being given to any man, woman on junior (the latter under 16) bringing in the largest salmon.

Official weigh-in stations are located at the three points of return, San Francisco, Sausalito and the East Bay. Judges include Clyde Hickey of the Schenley Sportsman Club and Bill Walstrom of the Junior Chamber's Sport and Youth Development Committee.

According to Tyee Club president, Jack Wenderoth, 98 percent of all the salmon spawning along the United States West Coast pass through San Francisco's Golden Gate on their way to the Central Valley spawning grounds, which have been drastically reduced in the last 100 years from 6000 miles to only 300 miles.

"Our salmon population is increasing, but it still needs to be protected," says Jack. "One of the best methods of conservation is to do your fishing outside the Golden Gate. There you will find the main schools and you should have good sport. After the fish swim through the Gate they are, if female, on their way to the diminishing spawning grounds. Fishing inside the Gate therefore means that you are helping to deplete California's natural resources. The best fishing for you and for California, therefore, is outside the Golden Gate."

September 18, the last day of the 3rd annual Pacific Festival, promises some of the best ocean salmon fishing of the entire season, according to experienced sport fishermen.

For further details on the Pacific Festival Salmon Tournament write to Bill Walstrom at the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, 333 Pine Street, or call the Junior Chamber at Exbrook 2-4511.

Lady Lions Give Night Club Tour

The ladies of the Daly City-Colma Lions Club gave their husbands a tour of four San Francisco night clubs last Friday. The floor shows left at least on husband mumbling to himself.

They chartered a Grey Line tour of Finnocchio's, La Casadoro, Gorman's Gay 90's and Bimbo's 365 Club.

John Putkey, husband of the president of the Lionesses, said the tour provided a lot of laughs and some sadness: that is, only one drink at each of the night spots visited. The arrangements were made by Mrs. John Radhuber and Mrs. George Glass.

'LISTENS TO PEOPLE'

'Warm And Genuine' Personality Keeps Perry Como On Top

By MONA BAKER

When NBC singing star Perry como returns to television this fall on "Kraft Music Hall" he will begin his 26th year in show business. Just what are the qualities that keep some entertainers a popular favorite and on top for year after year, while others are known for a couple of years and then drop out of favor? Certainly talent is one of the most important prerequisites—eleven of Perry's recordings have topped the million sales mark. Beyond that however, what other qualities make for continued success in the entertainment world?

COMO RETURNS—Back for his sixth season of full-hour entertainment on the NBC-TV Network Wednesday nights, the famed singing star again will present extravaganzas of top songs, guests and features on "Perry Como's Kraft Music Hall" colorcasts.

Meeting Perry Como for the first time when he was in San Francisco several months ago, it was easy to see why his program has remained such a bright star in the television week. Certainly he possesses a pleasant singing voice and excellent sense of showmanship, but in addition he has a very warm and genuine personality that makes for a fine person. In fact when we started talking to him, we felt we had known him for years. Quite modest, delightfully casual with a subtle sense of humor, he is sincerely interested in other people and listens when they talk. We discussed various subjects, his program, family, even his former career of barber in a small Pennsylvania mining town. We asked if his family always watched his show. With a twinkle in his eye he replied that they certainly did when he was home anyway. He said a few times he walked into his house and found his young daughter watching another show, but he soon took care of that.

His singing career started back in 1933 when on a vacation from his barber business he auditioned for Freddy Carlone's band, was accepted and was vocalist for two years. He then joined Ted Weems band where he remained until 1942 traveling continually around the country for one-night stands. He had almost decided to return to his barber business when he received an offer for a sustaining network radio show, nightclub bookings and an RCA Victor recording contract. His first recording "Goodbye Sue" was cut in 1943, and two years later he made his first big hit record "Till the End of Time."

In 1944 he became star of "The Chesterfield Supper Club" on radio which also was featured on television beginning in 1948. Premiering in 1956 the "Perry Como Show" was the first program to originate from the famed Ziegfeld Theatre in New York which had been converted into an NBC-TV color studio.

Spring 1959 marked the beginning of his popular "Kraft Music Hall" colorcasts which consistently are one of the most entertaining, relaxing and pleasant hours during the TV week.

Perry Como's home is in Long Island where he lives a quiet suburban life with his wife Roselle and three children, Ronnie (20), David (14) and Terri (13).

Folk Dancing Starts Mid-Sept. At War Memorial

Folk dancing classes for beginners will start September 16 at the Daly City War Memorial Community Center. They will be held Fridays from 7:45 to 10 p.m.

The classes are specially planned for those who have not danced before.

Elsie Maclaren directs both groups, with Marvin Jerue as an alternate instructor of the El Camino Reelers where both folk and square dancing is done. For more information, call PLaza 5-0065 any evening. Both classes are assured, so no advance registration is necessary.

SFS Gridders Open Practice This Thursday

San Francisco State College opens football practice this Thursday, September 1, at 9 a.m. in the college's Fox Stadium. The Gators will be going through a complete two-a-day practice sessions in preparation for their opening game against University of California of Santa Barbara at Goleta on Friday, September 16.

Head Coach Joe Verducci, in his final year as Gator varsity coach, will be leading his players through a complete ten-game schedule which includes five Far Western Conference games and five intersectional contests. The Gators were last year's Far Western Conference champions for the fourth consecutive season and the West's only undefeated and untied team.

Expected to welcome Verducci and his staff on opening day will be 33 players from the '59 varsity and junior varsity squads, including 26 lettermen.

Gone from the Gator gridiron scene are two Little All-American players who brought the Gators their last three football championships. They are quarterback Jim Sochor, 1959 Northern California Back of the Year, Little All-American and Little All-Coast for two seasons, and All-FWC for three years; and fullback Hank Marshall, Little All-American, Little All-Coast, and two-season All-FWC. Replacing these fine players will be one of the main tasks facing the Gator coaches as they plan to hold on to their undefeated record and their FWC football crown.

Motor Wheelchairs Now Can Park Where Cars Can't

Severely disabled persons confined to wheelchairs are entitled to park their motor vehicles for reasonably unlimited periods in restricted zones, according to county Veterans' Service Officer, Floyd D. Granger. Such privileges do not apply where stopping, parking or standing of vehicles is prohibited or where space is reserved for special vehicles.

Section 2251.5, California Vehicle Code makes it possible for those who must rely on a wheelchair to obtain these parking privileges. It also is applicable to persons "severely disabled" by coronary conditions, multiple sclerosis, and polio who cannot move about without the aid of a wheelchair.

The Department of Motor Vehicles issues "ZZV" license plates to such disabled persons, in addition to the "VTN" series issued to veterans who have lost, or have lost the use of both legs or who have suffered permanent, service-connected blindness.

"ZZV" plates require payment of the regular fee, but "VTN" plates are free of

SQUARE DANCE CLASSES BEGIN SEPTEMBER 9

The Colma School, Hillsdale and Market streets, Daly City, will be the scene of activity for an adult beginners square dance class, starting Friday, September 9, at 8 p.m. The class is open to all persons, 18 years or older, interested in learning to square dance.

Instruction in the basic movements will be given on the opening night of registration and repeated during the registration period which ends September 23; after which the class will meet every Friday night.

Square dancing is deeply rooted in our past. Dancing in squares has been done in some form or another in almost every European country for centuries. The early settlers brought these dances to our shores, and those using the "Square" as it's formation were the foundation of the square dance of today. Our pioneers blended the dances of various origins into the American Square Dance and so, regardless of ancestry, those who enjoy the fun of this activity are helping keep alive a pioneer spirit and do so with the knowledge that their forebears contributed something toward it.

A moderately strenuous and non competitive activity, square dancing has been increasing in popularity throughout the 50 states and Canada. Just recently at the Golden Gate Roundup, held in Oakland, California, over 7000 dancers in their colorful costumes took part in the two-day celebration.

Schools and colleges have long recognized the value of this form of dancing to develop poise and coordinated movement as well as maintaining good physical condition, and many of them include it in their recreational and physical education programs.

Square dancing was introduced to our military personnel during World War II, and it filled a real need, and still does, in providing clean, wholesome entertainment and recreation for our men and women in uniform. After the war these same men and women in uniform introduced the American Square Dance to the inhabitants of the various lands where they were stationed and it has been enthusiastically accepted by young and old alike and has helped to create a better understanding and cultural exchange. The response to this type of dancing has been so great in foreign lands that today, wherever we have either military or civilian personnel, you will find square dance groups.

Truly the American Square Dance has been introduced into, and accepted by almost every country on the globe. As a wholesome leisure time activity, in which all can participate and all can enjoy, square dancing is traditionally one of the finest.

The Western Twirlers square dance club, who are sponsoring this beginners class at the Colma School, starting Friday, September 9, will be happy to have you and your pardner join the group.

Winter Jr. Bowling League Signups Set For September 17

By BOB SEXTON

Saturday, September 17 has been selected as the day for registering boys and girls for the Winter Jr. bowling leagues at Westlake Bowl. There will be no bowling on that day. This year, 1960-61, the leagues will differ in that the season will not be divided into a split schedule. The week after registration, September 24, the league will get under way with all teams reporting at designated times.

The following is the time schedule for registration day, and also the bowling times for the season:

Registration Day Bantams—(12 and under) 9:30 a.m.; Juniors—(13 to 15 years) 11:15 a.m.; Seniors—(16 to 18 years) 12:00 a.m.; Season Bowling Times (Sat.)—Bantams—9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.; Juniors — 9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.; Seniors—9:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.

Registration for these divisions must be at the proper times. The registration station will be in the nursery of Westlake Bowl. Parents are invited to have coffee and donuts while their youngsters are in the process of registration.

Some characteristics of the 1960-61 winter bowling season.

1. New and rapid method for registering winter league bowlers.
2. Totally sanctioned American Junior Bowling Congress (A.J.B.C.) leagues.
3. Single season instead of the previously split season. The season will start September 24 and end approximately May 14 with an awards banquet and celebration upon completion of the season.
4. A bowler being absent from league play three weeks in a row will be dropped and immediately replaced.
5. Openings in the leagues will be posted each week for the benefit of new bowlers wishing to join a team.

Summer league champions: Saturday — 1st place, The Jets, Bob Hood, Rich Leverenz, Billy Kitchen, Tom Ross, Steve Ross. 2nd Place: Sunsets — Bob Bias, Ron Sherman, Frank Knowlton, Ron DiMaggio, Tom Cunningham, Mark Casserta. 1st place Bantams B: Harrington Realty — Bob Reinherz, Roy Hannah, Jim Sylvester, Eddie Angelo, John & George Lipman. 2nd Place: Giants — Carlos Acosta, Tom Sullivan, Mike Giusti, Larry Haxton, John Demarest.

Saturday, bantam girls: Bagdad Recreation — Toni Pinelli, Susan Woodall, Mary Ann Woodall, Bonnie Hansen. 2nd Place: Kittins — Judy Oliva, Diane Ellis, Mary Schneider, Sharon Pedrin. Mondal, Bantam Boys: Falcons — Ted Cordano, Armando Aceituno, Brad Cunningham, Gus Sutsos. Wednesday, Bantam Boys: Bordons — John Barsotti, Mitch Mann, Fred Arnke, Don Costello, Ron Basso. Wednesday Jr. 710 Scratch: Charlies Richfield, Larry Tomassini, Pete Pollat, Sandy Schoenfeld, Glen Hilton, Carl Steigerwald, Bob Grout, Ed Koplowitz. Saturday Junior Girls: Bowlettes — Pat Marks, Joanne Pollat, Mary Logan, Sharon Sylvester.

The last week of summer league bowling saw the younger set wind up with a tremendous surge of effort. In the Jr. Scratch league the Charlies Richfield team continued to show their fine skill by pounding out a 896 scratch game and capping the morning with a 919 game. This is an all time high for the Jr. league. Individual honors went to Glen Hilton who had a fine start toward a 600 series until he ran into a little trouble in the third game and dropped to a 169. Glen's eventual 578 series surpassed the high series for the Jr. division by a mere 4 pins.

In the same league and bowling on the very next lane was Jim Fisher, a fast developing kegler. Jim started out with a 200, zoomed to a 206, then dropped to a still very respectable 180 game for a grand total of 586, and a new all time high series for the blistering juniors.

The big talk around the Jr. circles now was Steve Funai's clutch 611 scratch series in a power packed match game with Brentwood Bowl. Funai, an ace quarterback and all-around athlete for Westmoor High School, led the way in the first two games by shooting games of 195-215. The Westlakers won both of these games by a slim margin. Everything looked rosy for the lacals going into the last game with a 48 pin advantage. Then in the third game the Brentwooders found their marks and zeroed in for strike after strike. The game wound up with Westlake on the short end. The visitors unleaded a tremendous 911 game to come from behind and sweep the match by 73 pins.

Steve Funai will be in action in the soon-to-be-formed Jr. Traveling league that was such a success last year. If his gridiron duties don't take all his time we just may see some fantastic scores turned in by this modest mannered Westlaker.

High game for the Week: Bob Doyle — 236; Bill Dooly — 233; Steve Funai 215-201-205.

Plane Bought For College Training At Coyote Point

Aeronautics students at College of San Mateo will get an unusual addition to help their training this year.

A surplus T-6 trainer was bought from the Air Force for use in the aero classes. Instructor Alvin K. Waltz recently went to Tucson, Arizona, to select a surplus trainer and to prepare it for the flight to San arlos airport. A former CSM student, Bob Still, flew the aircraft to San Carlos.

The trainer will be used to teach students the various systems making up a complete operational aircraft. The T-6 has the same equipment as large aircraft, except cabin pressurization and refrigeration systems.

Two new classes in aeronautics are scheduled for the fall semester: jet powerplants (Aero 54) and avianics (Aero 70). Training will be strengthened by the return of Instructor George Van Vliet, who has been on a year's leave of absence. He will teach sections in general aeronautics, dead reckoning, radio navigation, and flight simulation. Other aeronautics offerings include basic powerplant—airframe, machine shop, airframes, and special problems.

Brochures and additional information may be obtained by contacting an aeronautics instructor at College of San Mateo, DI 2-1421.

PERT lassies in kilts, dancing the traditional Highland Fling, as well as the Sword Dance, and Sailor's Hornpipe to the Skirl of bagpipes will be only one of over 40 events at the 95th Annual Scottish Gathering and Games to be held Sunday, September 4, at the Petaluma Fairgrounds. The spectacle is open to the public. Proceeds from the games will go to charity.

Rich Colorado, Shirley Zatcoff Pace-setters On W'Lake Lanes

Bowling interest at Westlake Bowl is increasing as the winter season, always the most active, is approaching, according to owner Johnny Swanson.

The No-Tap tournament, where a nine pin fall on the first ball counts as a strike, has become so popular in two weeks that Swanson has increased it to a two-night affair with contenders rolling at 6:45 p.m. on Saturdays and 8:45 on Sunday nights.

Rich Colorado took the men's division last week with a 688, plus 80 pin handicap, for a 768; and Shirley Zatcoff's 595-126-721, took the ladies' division.

Action in the Westlake Bowl Prevue Handicap Team Tournament also is hot and heavy with more teams entering each weekend. The special $75 award for high series up to September 5 and $50 for second is drawing teams to get in early before the October 2 closing of the tourney.

A $50 award for high scratch team series and a $45 prize for high scratch team game is an inducement to the teams from all B.P.A.A. houses who are eligible to compete.

Jim Grealish has returned to work at Westlake after a bout with the mumps. He reports openings in the following daytime winter leagues:

Monday — 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Women's Handicap; Tuesday — 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Women's Handicap; Wednesday —11 a.m. Men's Handicap and 1 p.m. Women's Handicap; Thursday — 9:30 a.m. Mothers' Club Leagues and 1 p.m. Women's scratch; Friday—9:30 a.m. Women's Handicap, 12:45 p.m. Women's Scratch Trio, and 1:15 p.m. Men's Scratch.

FALCON FORD THUNDERBIRD

Maybe you weren't around when this classic was a "bargain." But when it comes to value, it wouldn't hold a candle to a 1960 Ford, Falcon or Thunderbird at today's clean-up prices. This is a once-a-year saving that includes a whopping big allowance on your ancient runabout. Replace it now with one of our factory-fresh beauties, executive cars or nearly new demonstrators. Everything goes but the showroom! (We need it for the '61s!)
